8:50 am – 9:50 am CALIFORNIA STATE STATUTES UPDATE: WHAT IS NEW AND WHAT’S ON THE HORIZON?

“WHO FRAMED ROGER RABBIT?”

Although immigration falls under federal jurisdiction, state laws can have an enormous impact on a client’s case. In 2016, the California legislature enacted a number of laws for the benefit of immigrants and the immigrant community, including limiting the maximum possible punishment for a California misdemeanor to 364 days, providing due process rights for immigrants held in local jails pursuant to an ICE detainer, and a new procedural vehicle for vacating California convictions. The California legislature is currently

11:00 am – 12:00 pm WINNING STRATEGIES: A VIEW FROM THE BENCH
“THE VERDICT”

In immigration court, the lawyer’s role is to hold the government to its evidentiary burden and to advocate fearlessly on behalf of clients. But how can lawyers build the confidence necessary to respectfully stand their ground, challenge evidence, and preserve the record for appeal—especially when judges push back? Recently retired immigration judges will offer their perspectives garnered from years on the bench to help lawyers successfully navigate some of the thornier issues that arise in immigration court and be the best advocates for their clients.
